

András Csúri

András Csúri lectures European Criminal Law at the University of Vienna. Previously he held academic positions at the Max Planck Institute for Foreign and International Criminal Law and at Utrecht University.

He took part in various international projects in comparative and EU criminal law with his research focusing on the European Public Prosecutor's Office (EPPO) and on transnational evidence.

András Csúri is one of the editors of the Max Planck periodical 'Euclid'. He was a member of the 'Luxembourg-study group' elaborating model rules for EPPO investigations and visiting scholar at the University of Cambridge. András Csúri holds a DPhil from Szeged.

